

LEKKI NEW TOWN CENTRE

G2 Planning and Design was awarded First Place in the 2014 First World Communities Design Competition. Starting at the Lekki Epe Expressway, the architecture is designed to funnel views through the large open green and into the central corridor where the user will encounter a retail and recreational experience unlike any other. The mixed use buildings located on this central spine will be integrated with an active and walkable outdoor environment.

Views along the streetscape are channeled by the architecture and terminate on a signature building. This iconic structure will elevate several stories above the rest of the development to capture views from the expressway and the surrounding communities. The central core forms the buffer between the high density residential district and the public retail and business zones. This area will function as the development's central park and will bustle with activity. Additional green spaces are used throughout the design to connect major areas of the development and can be used for large gatherings and events.
